Relays Title Won By PiKA Pushers

By GERRY GARBARINI

The race was to the swift in last Friday's fifth annual running of Lambda Chi Alpha's Pushcart Relays, as George Snell piloted Pi Kappa Alpha to the title.

Steering a smooth rolling, silver cart, Snell breezed home the winner in four separate heats, ending the exciting afternoon by defeating Kappa Kappa Gamma by two lengths in the grand finale. The time was 1:07.

Alpha Tau Omega, 1952 champ, reached the semi-finals where SAE eliminated them. SAE, in turn, was vanquished by the champs-to-be in Heat 13. At the conclusion of the Relays, trophies were awarded to PiKA, SAE and ATO for first, second and third place "A" division places, respectively.

Winners in the women's division behind KKG were Delta Gamma, second, and Alpha Phi, third. Most original pushcart awards went to Delta Zeta, with its jack-in-the-box theme, and Sigma Pi, for its rocket ship. These trophies were awarded Friday night during the Relays Romp in the Women's gym.

The Women's division, although failing to produce the overall Relays titlist, did provoke a 20-minute long hassle. The controversy centered on KKG, the eventual winners, who were eliminated by Alpha Phi in the third heat. KKG protested and was admitted to the main event, which they won to the distress of Alpha Phi, Delta Gamma and Alpha Chi Omega.

At this point the Protest committee, composed of Don Rivinius and Artie Christopher, was summoned. The three losing sororities contended that KKG should not have been allowed to race the main event. KKG answered that their original protest—that there was an error in the "mechanics" of Heat three, the one they lost—had been honored, so why shouldn't they have raced?

Outcome of this was to draw lots and re-run the event, which KKG promptly won. Asked for the reason behind the re-running of the event, Rivinius answered: "No comment."

Judges for the Relays were Stanley Benz, dean of men; Mayor Parker Hathaway, Police Sgt. Eddie Prackna and Mrs. Izetta Pritchard, women's housing adviser.

Lectures End Today With Far East Talk

An expert in the field of Far Eastern affairs and international relations will close the College Lecture committee-sponsored series of outstanding speakers when he addresses the student body this morning at 10:30 o'clock in Morris Dailey auditorium.

Dr. Claude A. Buss, professor of history at Stanford, will have as his topic "Conflicts in the Far East." He will be introduced by President John T. Wahlquist.

Following his talk, Buss will be honored at a reception in the Student Union, to which the public is invited. According to Dr. William Vatcher, reception chairman, "The reception honoring our last speaker proved very successful, probably because it gave students and the public a chance to ask questions which time did not permit during the lecture itself."

Dr. Buss has been teaching at Stanford since 1936. Prior to that time he was an instructor at the University of Southern California.

Today's speaker has served as vice consul to China, and attaché for language study to the U.S. legation in that country. He was executive assistant to the U.S. high commander of the Philippines from 1941 to 1944 and chief of the San Francisco office of OWI from 1944 to 1946.

He served further in the Far East as executive consultant to the Strategic Bombing survey in Japan and as consultant to the Civil Information and Education section of General Headquarters in Tokyo.

Dr. Buss has received degrees from Washington Missionary college, Susquehanna university, University of Pennsylvania (Ph.D.) and University of California (LL.D.). He also has studied at the Ecole Libre des Science Politiques, Paris.

Activities Tickets

Tickets to Senior Week activities, including the Senior Ball, will be available in the Graduate Manager's office today through Friday.

Seniors will receive tickets free, but guests will be charged, from $1.50 to $3, according to the event.

Ugly Men Reap $861 Profit for Work Aid Fund

A total of $861.21 for the Athletes' Work Aid fund was raised during the most successful Ugly Man contest ever held on the college campus.

Winner was Phi Kappa Sigma-Alpha Omicron Pi's Seymour Abrahams with 20,832 votes.

Al Basche, Theta Chi-Delta Gamma entry, was second with 17,017 votes. The sponsoring houses will get trophies.

Meritorious awards were given to: Bucky Levin, Sigma Nu-Kappa Kappa Gamma entry; Byron Bollinger, Alpha Phi Omega-Grounds department entry; Ward Von Tillow, Alpha Phi entry; Fred Postal, Kappa Alpha-Chi Omega entry; Chuck Abrahamson, Sigma Alpha-Epsilon-Sigma Kappa entry.

Two hundred and five dollars and fifty cents of the total amount was taken in at the Bean Feed, sponsored by APhiO.

Ugly Man contest winners were announced at the "Relay Romp" which followed the Bean Feed. This event was sponsored by Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity, and Dave Woods, past president of the fraternity, indicated that this will be an annual affair in the future accompanying the Pushcart Relays.

For the third time in three years, Phi Sigma Kappa was one of the sponsors of the winning Ugly Man, according to Chuck Wing, chairman of the Rally committee.

With the Ugly Man contest, the Pushcart Relays, the Bean Feed and the "Relay Romp" Wing declared that Friday was one of the most successful days he had ever seen on campus.

U.A. Manager Outlines Proposed Theater Rate

An unexpected reduction in student movie rates has been approved by the Studio, United Artist and California theaters, it was reported Friday by Charles R. Helm, manager of the U.A. theater.

According to Helm, the plan includes the purchasing of a student identification card for 50c at the beginning of the school year.

Half of this sum will go into student body funds and the other half will go to the theaters. The theaters will pay printing costs.

The theater ticket will be good for either a year or a half year, Helm said.

On presentation of the student identification card at the box-office, the student will pay a junior admission, saving 20 cents every time he goes to the movies.

"Of course the plan is still in the talking stage," Helm admitted, "but we hope to have it in operation by next fall quarter."

Action on the plan was started early this quarter when the Senior class council circulated a petition to lower rates.

According to John Tillotson, chairman, over 4,000 students signed the petition.

Helm was invited to attend a Senior council meeting to explain the stand local theaters would take on the petition. At that time the petition seemed destined for failure, and no real agreement was made during the meeting. However, Helm did agree to present the council's plan to his board of trustees.

The unexpected answer arrived Friday, with approval by three first-run movies to student rates.

"Our companies agree to the plan," Helm said Friday. "All that needs to be done now is to get the movie exchanges to agree, and the companies are optimistic that they will."

Helm also said that the new plan is functioning now at the University of California.

Band Concert Presented Here Tomorrow

The Music department will present its quarterly band concert tomorrow night in Morris Dailey auditorium beginning at 8:15 o'clock.

Robert P. Olson, assistant professor of music, will conduct the evening's program.

The concert will start with two of Richard Wagner's compositions, Overture to Rienzi and Siegfried Idyll. Byron Maynard will present a cornet solo of Francis Thome's "Fantaisie" to be followed by two pieces from "Gems for Wind Instruments" as transcribed by Percy Aldridge Grainger.

The program will continue with a concerto for trombone and band featuring Dan Livesay as soloist. Concluding the evening's concert will be the first performance of Harold M. Johnson's, "A Short Romantic Overture" and the Golden Gate March by Edwin Franko Goldman.

Deadline Told

Deadline for the Speech and Drama department's annual design contest has been extended to Friday, according to J. Wendell Johnson, associate professor of drama.

Drawings must be turned in to the department office, Room 57. Instruction blanks are also available in the office.

Seniors Allocate Treasury Surplus

Tying up loose ends will be the main business today in the last Senior class council meeting at 3:30 p.m. in Room 129.

The class will act on allocation of the remaining funds in the treasury. They will decide on one of three funds: (1) a loan fund to needy freshmen (2) a scholarship fund, or (3) furnishings for the chapel.

Also on the agenda will be preparations for the council dinner at L'Omelette on Wednesday, June 3.

Firstnighters Approve 'Under The Gaslight'

By JO ROSSMANN
Fine Arts Editor

The villainous villain, the beautiful of the gaudySHRDLUP90A ful heroine and the music and dancing of the gaudy theater of the late 19th century brought cheers, hisses and applause from an approving first night audience Friday night when "Under the Gaslight" opened a seven day run in the Little Theater.

The audience raised on a diet of Tennessee Williams and Eugene O'Neil wasn't sure at first what to make of the peanut and popcorn hawkers.

It wasn't until the first olio, a black face number done by Barbara Remelmeyer and Jack Byers set the redlicking pace for the evening that the audience warmed up and began to enjoy themselves.

Applause brought the show to almost a complete stop when Mary Campbell sang "Father Dear Father." Her performances as Peach-blossoms ranged with the portrays turned in by some of the most experienced actors of the Little Theater stage.

Faculty members Maureen Thompson and J. Wendell Johnson brought laughter and more laughter from the group with operatic nursery rhymes.

Gerry Charlebois was a mustache twirling villain, ably aided by Ruth Daugherty.

Carolyn King and Donna Wegner were sweet as the heroines. Richard Rizzo as Snorkey turned in his usual perfect performance.

Ron Blood, in his first leading role, was everything a hero should be.

Good comedy bits were turned in by Wayne Mitchell, Joe LoBue and Frank Woodman, John Kerr directed.

The theater of the 1880's was brought to life by the elaborate stage setting designed by Johnson and the colorful costumes by Bernice Prisk.

The performance will be repeated June 1-2 and 4-6.

CHAMPION GEORGE SNELL (right) pilots his annual Lambda Chi Pushcart Relays Friday, PIKA Pi Kappa Alpha entry around treacherous "dead man's curve" on S. Eighth and San Antonio streets. Delta Upsilon's Art Bostell makes a determined but unsuccessful effort to overtake Snell.

Recognition vs. Recreation

Judo or skiing. Which of the two sports should be given the sanction of the physical education department and provided for in the student affairs budget?

Basically a competitive collegiate sport has two purposes: 1. to bring recognition to the college, and 2. to provide recreation for the students.

Judo has brought the college a champion of champions in a national AAU tournament. The team ranks second nationally, judged by competition in that tournament. The college is recognized nationally as the center of collegiate judo. Through judo the college has received recognition in the newsreels, national news magazines and pictorial magazines.

Judo, being an indoor sport, is a year-long sport. Poor weather imposes no limitations on competition or practice. Cost of equipment is not a detriment.

The ski team placed out of the money in competition last year behind such schools as University of California and Stanford. Because of climatic conditions, the sport cannot be national. Recognition, therefore will not be national.

Skiing is limited to the winter months. Then, for a school such as San Jose, weekends are the only times free for a student to ski.

The cost of equipment and transportation is prohibitive in many cases. The average student would have trouble meeting the cost of full skiing equipment.

When the student council makes the decision between the two Wednesday, we would like to urge a strong consideration of the merits of each sport and its value to the college.

We can see only one logical decision.

Phelan Winners Get Awards At Honor Society Barbecue

Phelan contest winners received their awards last Thursday at a barbecue sponsored by Pegasus, English honor society, according to Dr. James Wood, adviser.

A variety of things were done at the barbecue, according to Dr. Wood. Among these was the election of Betty Higdon to the office of president for the new school year.

Dr. Raymond Barry, English department head, gave a short talk on the history of the Phelan awards, and James Warnock, instructor of creative writing, offered a critical review of the works of the winners, Dr. Wood reported.

"In addition, plans were suggested for the encouragement of creative writing on the San Jose State campus," he added.

Stanford Looms As Tough Team

By RON WAGENBACH

One of the toughest opponents that Bob Bronzan's 1953 gridders will face during 1953 are the Indians of the University of Stanford. Coached by Chuck Taylor, the Palo Alto delegation should be more experienced and classier than their 1952 predecessors.

According to Taylor, the most important individual player in Indian plans is huge Norm Manogian. He injured his knee last year and saved his eligibility. The Stanford mentor has acclaimed the guard as a real team leader and a tremendous player.

Taylor has bolstered his line with players the caliber of Matt Armitage, Ted Tanner and Wyn Wedge. Armitage was an All-Coast candidate last year and should be a tower of strength at the tackle slot. Tanner played linebacker last season, but will move into tackle in order to play both offense and defense.

The Indian end situation is pretty well under control with Sam Morley around. He set the PCC afire last season with his pass-catching play, and will be expected to complete several aerial touchdowns for the Redshirts this season.

John Steinberg and rookie John Stewart will bolster the other end activities. At center will be Joe Long, a jaycee transfer who broke his leg the middle of last season.

Bob Garrett will return to guide the team from the quarterback slot. Completing the first backfield will be Ron Cook, Jarvis Watson and Bill Tarr. Cook is returning from last year's squad while Tarr comes up from the freshman squad. Several other frosh will figure in Taylor's system in reserve roles.

The big intersectional on the ten-game Indian schedule is with Illinois at Champaign on Oct. 3. The San Jose State Spartans meet the Redshirts Nov. 14 at the Palo Alto stadium.

Two Quarterbacks Star On COP Football Squad

Jack "Moose" Myers, newly-named head coach of the College of Pacific Tigers, has high hopes of having two of the top quarterbacks on the Pacific coast, if not the entire nation, this football season.

Myers has named veteran Roy Ottosen and freshman sensation Billy Jacobs as his two talented signal callers. Ottosen completed 110 out of 192 passes in 1952 to rank second on the coast to All-American Don Heinrich of the University of Washington Huskies. He is a six-foot, 170-lb. athlete who has shown signs that he can go both ways.

Jacobs, one of the most publicized high school sensations of recent years, led the COP frosh to a very successful season. His running, passing and signal calling reminds fans of Eddie LeBaron, three-time Little All-American while quarterbacking the Tigers a few years back.

"Excellent," Eddie predicts, "Bill will be the best T quarterback on the Pacific coast by the time he is a senior." He was All-California State two years ago at Redding high school and most valuable players in the North-South game.

The Tigers have six two-year and 19 one-year lettermen returning. The starting team will average 192 pounds, with the line averaging 203 and the backfield 171.

Myers will call on end Ken Buck, who established a school pass-catching record with 36 last year; guard Lowell Herbert, rugged linebacker; Art Liebscher, two-year letterman and top running halfback; and Jim Timms, two-year letterman at guard to bolster the Tiger squad. Spring standouts include Gene Elm (brother of SJS's Joe) and end Jerry Smith.

Hunt, Guerrero Win Honors For SJ State

The names of Lyle Hunt and Mike Guerrero will be added to the plaque of national champions as a result of their efforts during 1953. The plaque hangs in the corridor of the Men's gymnasium.

Hunt earned the right to be named to this select group by winning the grand national champion award at the recent judo tourney held at Sparta. Guerrero gained his title at the national boxing finals held in Pocatello, Ida.

The two new names will be numbers 13 and 14 respectively on the plaque.

1952 produced the greatest crop of national champions as five Spartans claimed this honor. They included boxers Chuck Adkins and Jack Scheberies; Butch Krikorian, NAIA tennis king; Bob McMullen, national 300 meter steeplechase champion, and Bill Priddy, who pole vaulted 13 ft. 9 in. to gain the title.

Bronzan at Confab

Coach Bob Bronzan will represent San Jose State tomorrow at the spring meeting of the Northern California Football Writers association. The meeting will be held at the San Francisco Press club.

DU Tracksters Take IFC Meet

Delta Upsilon tracksters made a clean sweep of the IFC track meet held at the Spartan oval Saturday, by tallying 70 1-2 points to come out 30 points in front of their closest rival, Theta Chi.

Sigma Alpha Epsilon placed third in the annual track meet followed by Kappa Alpha, Pi Kappa Alpha, Sigma Nu, Delta Sigma Phi, Sigma Pi and Sigma Chi respectively.

Delta Epsilon proved to be too deep for their opponents as they managed to rack up points in every event.

In the 1320 yard run Carroll Williams, (SAE) and Rod Kolze, (DU) matched strides all the way with Williams breaking the tape two yards ahead of Kolze.

Bob Campbell (PiKA) won the 75 yard dash with the rest of the pack right on his heels.

Bill Booth (DU) set the pace for the 352 yard dash after he overtook Jack Bray (Theta Chi). Jim Willoughby (Theta Chi) and Darrell Dukes (DU) were tied for third place.

The sixty yard high hurdles found Len Rhodes (DU) breaking the tape first, followed by Dave Persing (PiKA) and Bill Tyler (Sigma Chi).

Dick Viallafuerte (Sigma Nu) was first in the 660 yd. event with second and third places going to Dean Towne (Theta Chi) and Chuck DeBavard (KA) respectively.

In the field events Don Becker (UA) threw the baseball 345 feet to take a first place, and Bob Antonoli (DU) heaved the javelin 147' 1" to come out on top in this event.

Kent Enzensberger (SAE) was first in the shotput with an effort of 41' 8" for the day.

Delta Upsilon put the finishing touches on their designs for victory as they nosed out Theta Chi to capture the relay event.

Oregon U's Hopes For 1953--Dim

By DON BLOOM

"Things have to get better, because they can't get any worse." This is the feeling of Len Casanova, University of Oregon football coach, when he presents his outlook for next year's chances.

Since the year 1949, the Ducks have produced miserable teams that have tried to cope with the hard charges of such powers as California, Stanford, USC and UCLA. In 1950, the Oregopians won only one game out of ten and last season the gridders came through with a two wins, seven losses and one tie record. One highlight of last year's schedule was a surprising upset over the Stanford Indians.

One of Casanova's main worries is to discover replacements for hard-charging Tom Novikoff (drafted by the San Francisco 49ers) and Monte Brethauer, last year's sensational pass-catching wingman. These two men were the only highlights of the '52 season.

The team will be bolstered by 26 returning lettermen, but many of these ballplayers won monograms because there was no-one to play certain positions at the end of the year.

Two outstanding returnees that should help to bolster Casanova's ego are Quarterback George Shaw and End Emery Barnes. Shaw made the national headlines as a freshman two years ago when he tied the National Collegiate Athletic association record with 13 pass interceptions. He is a talented runner and passer who should have no trouble going both ways.

At the present time Shaw is playing shortstop on the baseball nine that is battling Stanford in the PCC playoffs.

Barnes is a husky Negro performer who is also a great high jumper. Last year he was Pacific Coast Conference champion and tied Walt Davis, Olympic champion, for the NCAA title. He has leaped over the bar at 6 ft. 8 in. As an end, Barnes has few competitors on the coast that rank even close to him. With his speed and agility he should be a stand-out on the coast next year.

The tackle positions will be filled with the talents of Jack Patera and Hal Reeve. An outstanding returning guard is Ken Sweitzer.

Sophomore Harry Mondale, a 195-pounder, is considered a great prospect and will probably get the call at the other guard position.

Halfback posts will be given to Ted Anderson and Cece Hodges. Another prospect is speedy Dick James, a sensation on last year's frosh eleven. Walt Gaffney, San Bernardino transfer, has shown signs of playing a lot of ball at the halfback position.

Three men gunning for the fullback job are Dean Van Leuven, Doyle Higdon and Larry Rose.

Theta Chi Men Score 30-1 Win

Theta Chi warmed up for its championship game with the Music club by trouncing DSP, 30-1, in a contest last week.

Lambda Chi Alpha also posted a softball victory by downing Kappa Tau, 16-8. The Music department kept the independent league in action by defeating Spartan Orriocci, 7-2.

AWS Banquet Honors Active Campus Women

An evening of honors, awards and recognition was given Thursday night for the girls and advisers who helped make this year's women's activity program one of the most successful in the history of the AWS organization.

Ninety of the "100 most active women on campus" were present for the Recognition banquet which was held in the Women's club.

The banquet itself was "one of the finest evening affairs that AWS has given for a long time. It was a most successful evening," said Miss Helen Dimmick, dean of women.

Entertainment acts were presented to the banquet diners, followed by the introduction of the speakers' table, announcement of the new Black Masque members and introduction of the Spartan speakers members.

Honorary service and personality awards of paper badges were presented to AWS members Joan Harlan, Ruthie Oakley, Enid Harte, Sallee Lotz, Paula Shahinian, Engruid Anderson and Joyce Malone.

A tribute to Mrs. Izetta Pritchard, AWS adviser, was given in the form of a musical compact.

Carol Larson, outgoing president was awarded a silver plate with the inscription, "Carol - president AWS 1952-53."

Darlene Clayton, 1953-54 AWS president, headed the installation ceremonies.

Two special awards were given for outstanding scholarship, character and activity interest to Murietta Williams and Barbara Jean Baily. Dean Dimmick, who spoke for the American Association of University Women, made the presentation.

Closing the program, Mrs. Stanley Benz, wife of the dean of men, spoke on the importance of humility in organizational service and stressed the need for understanding through keeping an open mind and thinking for oneself.

Dean Dimmick, speaking of this year's AWS program, said, "This has been a very fine year for AWS."

Bailey Heads 'Masques'

Jean Ann Bailey was named as 1953-54 President of the Black Masque, senior scholarship honorary organization at the AWS Recognition banquet. She was announced by Joyce Malone, this year's president.

In an impressive ceremony, the 13 current members of the Black Masque marched to the stage in their traditional black gowns and masks. As the '52-'53 members stood on the stage in the Women's club, they held lighted candles and each officer, member and adviser called the name of the new Black Masque to take her place.

The officers named for the year of 1953-54 are: Jean Ann Bailey, president; Enid Harte, vice president; Pat Engerud, secretary; Mae Stadler, treasurer, and Sondra Waller, historian.

Chosen as members were Joyce Erickson, Darlene Clayton, Joan Di Cristina, Donna Harkleroad, Sallee Lotz, Joyce Orlando, and Bernice Rapley.

Upon announcement of her name, the new member stood until the entire group had been named. The group then proceeded to the stage and accepted the black mask from the girl who had called her name.

Next year's advisers to the Black Masque will be Dr. Gertrude Cavins and Frances Guiland.

Finalists Selected for Alpha Al Sirat Award

Six students have been selected for final consideration for the Alpha Al Sirat award, given to the man and woman senior business major student voted most likely to succeed in business.

The students who are to go down-town for an interview with a panel of business men, as part of the final selection, are: Lois Daum, Beverly Krikac, Jacqueline Kuhn, William Elder, George Kirby and Clyde McDonald.

In choosing the students for the award, all graduating students with a 2.0 grade average are automatically on the list for consideration. The business department faculty then meet to narrow the number down to five men and five women. At this time any other students in the business department that a faculty member should recommend are taken into consideration with the rest of the list.

After the faculty has the list narrowed down to ten the seniors of the business department vote on the list and narrow it down to three men and three women. These six are then interviewed by a panel of business men and they vote on the top two. The final selection is made by a weighted system where the faculty vote counts 50 per cent, the student vote 30 per cent, and the business men's vote 20 per cent. The man and woman student who get the highest vote by this system are given the award and their names are put on the plaque which hangs in the business division wing.

The award was started in 1940 when the commercial club was the only club in the department. There were only about 300 students in the department and about 50 graduating. With this small number everyone knew everyone else. Then, choosing the winners was an easier process. The faculty choose six men and women, the students narrowed the list down to two each by a secret ballot, and a panel of business men selected the winners.

Now the department has over 1200 students and instead of one club there is an honorary society for each of the four sub-fields of the department. Since the students can no longer get to know each other as easily, the new system of selection was adapted. This year, a new plaque will be hung in the department because the original plaque has been filled up.

New Date Set For Execution Of Rosenbergs

NEW YORK (UP) Federal Judge Irving R. Kaufman Friday set the week of June 15 as a new execution date for convicted atom spies Julius and Ethel Rosenberg.

The date is the fourth set by Kaufman for the execution, and it may not be the last. Defense counsel for the condemned couple will move next week for a stay of execution pending further appeals.

Attorney Alexander Bloch, father of defense counsel Emanuel Bloch, moved unsuccessfully for postponement of Friday's action until today, when he said his son would make further applications.

Kaufman, who presided over the Rosenbergs' trial, first sentenced them on April 5, 1951, to die in the Sing Sing prison electric chair in June of that year.

Janitor Gets Life Sentence

SAN JOSE, Calif. (UP) Robert B. Ballentine, 26, San Jose janitor, was sentenced to life imprisonment in San Quentin prison Friday for the slaying and robbery of a grocer.

He was convicted by a jury last week for killing San Jose grocer Joseph Spinoza, 68, during a hold-up of the store in November, 1951. It was Ballentine's second trial, the jury in the earlier trial failing to agree on a verdict on his plea of innocent.

Ballentine originally pleaded guilty to the charge early in 1952 and when he was sentenced to death he appealed to the State Supreme Court. The high court reversed the decision on Ballentine's claim that he had been promised life imprisonment "by police" on a guilty plea.

Class Desires Formal Dance, Tillotson Says

"The Senior class doesn't want dark suits worn to the Senior ball," said John Tillotson, member of the Senior Council, Friday.

"Since it is the one big dance of the senior's college years," he added, "we would like to keep it formal. Only white dinner jackets and tuxedos should be worn."

The Senior ball will be held Friday at the Bay Meadows Turf club in San Mateo. Tickets still may be purchased for $3 in the Graduate Manager's office.

Tillotson also told the Spartan Daily that he, Ken Scannell, Rita Ragazzino, and Don Weichert, would personally greet Frankie Carle some time this week.
